Film Committee at Media City Qatar Reaches Agreement in Principle with Fadel Shaker to Bring His Extraordinary Life Story to the Big Screen

Media City Qatar's Film Committee to develop a feature film exploring the life, music and remarkable journey of one of the Arab world's most iconic voices

Doha, Qatar, 22 November 2026: The Film Committee at Media City Qatar has reached an agreement in principle with acclaimed Lebanese singer Fadel Shaker to acquire the rights to bring his life story to the big screen, marking a significant step towards the development of a feature film inspired by one of the most recognizable and compelling figures in contemporary Arab music.

The proposed film will trace Shaker's extraordinary journey, from his rise to prominence as one of the Arab world's most beloved recording artists to the defining personal and professional chapters that have shaped his life. Set against the backdrop of a changing region, the project aims to explore the human story behind an unmistakable voice, examining the complexities of fame, identity, personal conviction and the enduring power of music.

For more than two decades, Shaker's music has occupied a distinctive place in the cultural landscape of the Arab world. With a repertoire of songs that have resonated across generations and national borders, he established himself as one of the region's most celebrated vocalists, earning widespread recognition for his emotionally expressive performances and distinctive musical identity.

His life, however, has unfolded far beyond the conventional trajectory of a musical career. Marked by extraordinary success, profound personal transformation and intense public scrutiny, his story presents a complex and deeply human narrative that extends beyond music and celebrity.

Through the proposed feature film, the Film Committee intends to develop a cinematic portrayal that approaches these defining chapters with depth, nuance and artistic ambition, while exploring the universal themes of belonging, transformation, resilience and the relationship between an artist and the public.

HE Hassan Al-Thawadi, Chairman of the Film Committee, said: "Great cinema begins with extraordinary human stories, and few stories in the Arab world are as compelling, complex and culturally significant as that of Fadel Shaker. His journey transcends music and celebrity. It is a story of immense talent, personal conviction, redemption, resilience and the enduring relationship between an artist and the audiences who connect with his work."

The project forms part of the Film Committee's broader strategy to identify, develop and bring to international audiences powerful stories rooted in the Arab world's cultural heritage, contemporary experiences and creative talent. Music, in particular, represents a compelling avenue for storytelling, offering a universal language through which distinctly regional narratives can connect with audiences around the world.

The agreement in principle represents an initial milestone in the project's development. Subject to the conclusion of definitive agreements, the Film Committee will advance the creative development process, including the identification of filmmaking talent and potential production partners, with the ambition of creating a feature film that combines regional authenticity with international cinematic appeal.

Further announcements regarding the film's creative team, production arrangements and anticipated timeline will be made in due course
