GEEKDOM HIGHLIGHTS

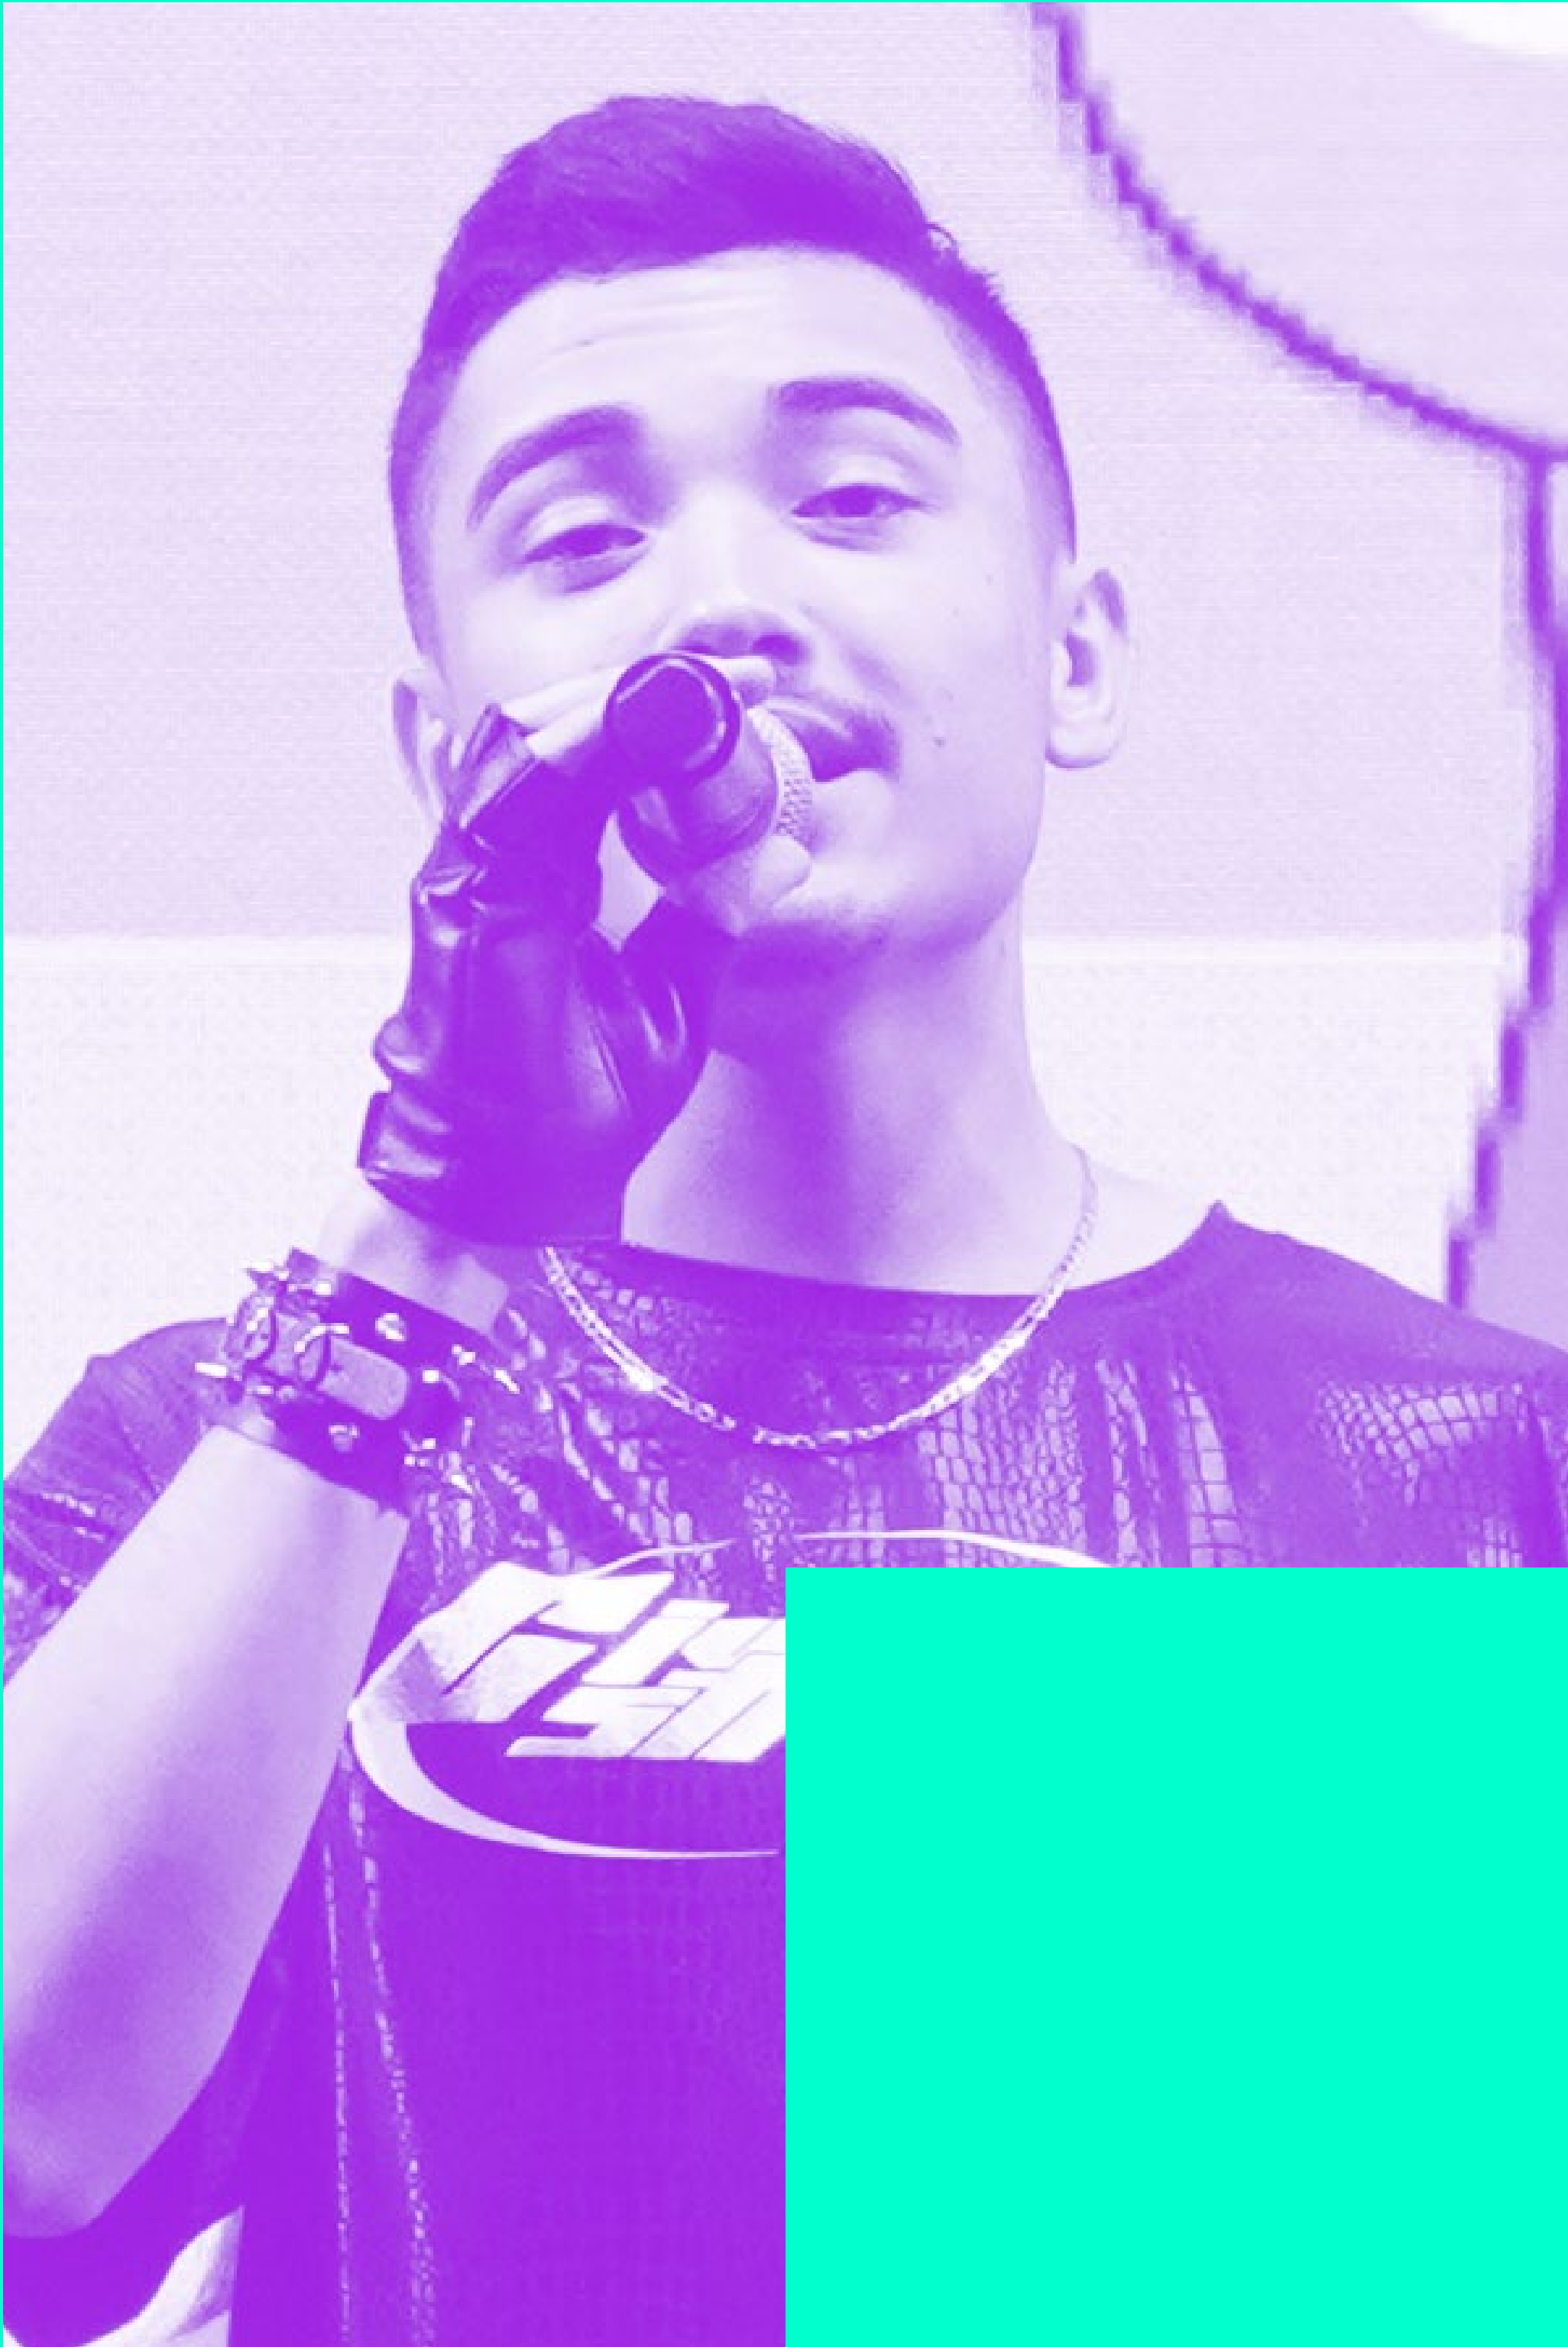

Geekdom is Qatar's ultimate pop-culture event. Since 2013, thousands of fans of all ages have gathered here to celebrate everything geeky, from gaming and cosplay to film, art, and storytelling.

Run under the Doha Film Institute, Geekdom is more than an event; it's a non-profit community platform where local artists, vendors, cosplayers, gamers, and developers shine. With its inclusive vibe and cross-generational experiences, it gives people from every walk of life a space to connect, create and contribute to Qatar's growing creative scene.

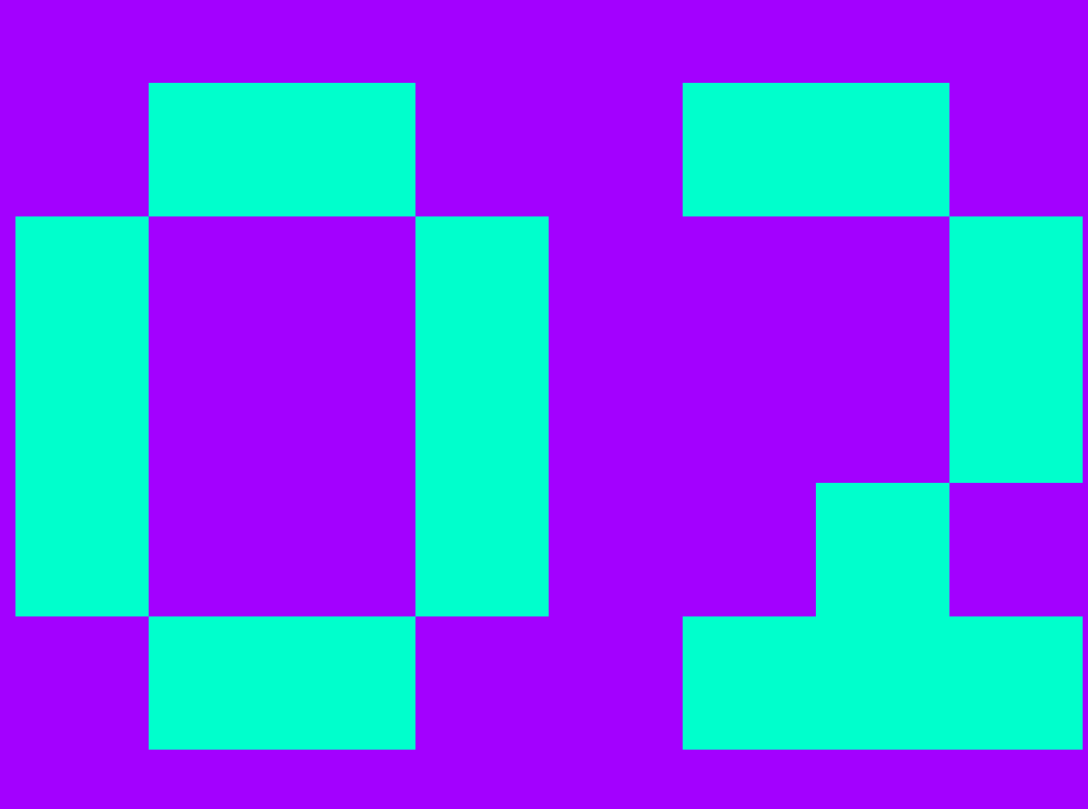

ABDULLA AL MOSSALMI

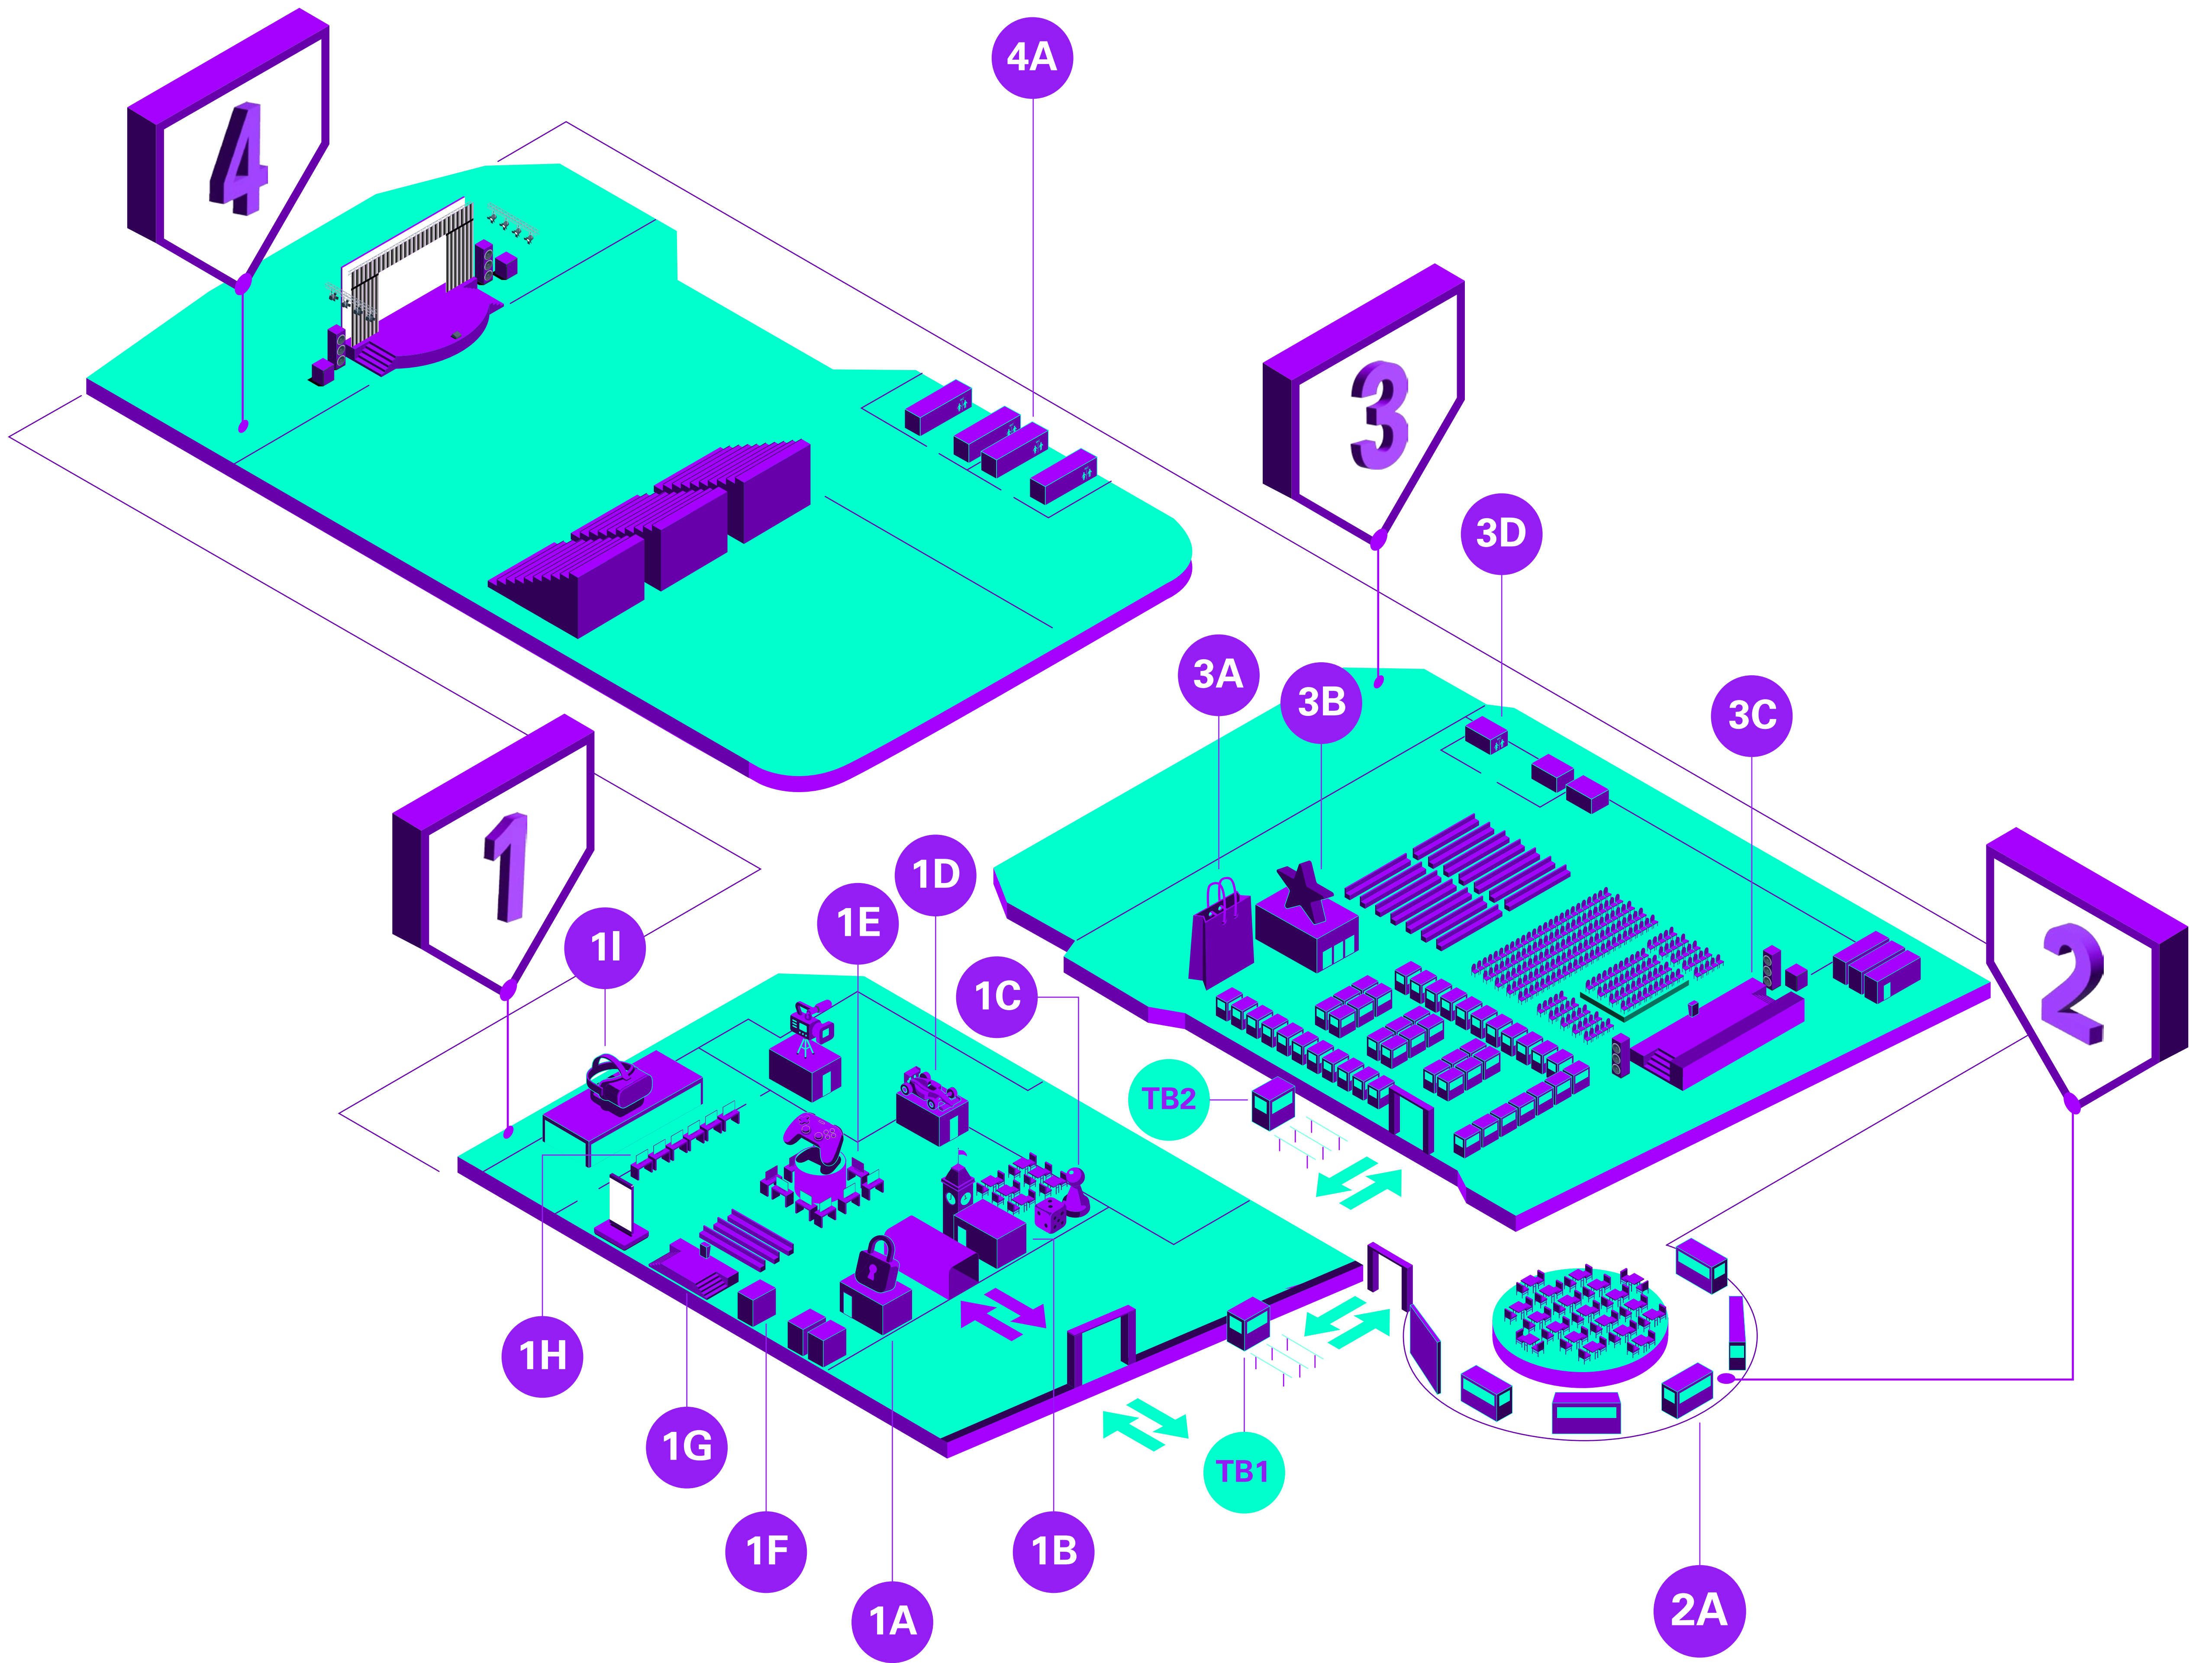

FOUNDER, GEEKDOM

Geeks don't follow trends; we create industries. We build businesses that fuel Qatar's creative economy, transforming ideas into stories, and stories into movements that shape our culture.

FEATURED ARTISTS

MOHAMMED ALSHAREEF - SUPA

From Volunteer to Professional Artist .My Journey with Geekdom.

I was just a volunteer with a dream to share my art .Today, that art has become a part of people's lives. And it all started with Geekdom.

My journey began in 2013 during the Ajyal Film Festival, where I volunteered as part of the organizing team and was in charge of the cosplay section and the Qatari artists' building. Back then, I was still new to art only two years in, but seeing local artists display their work inspired me to do the same. I printed my drawings and hung them in the hallway, not expecting much. To my surprise, the artists and visitors loved them, and their encouragement pushed me to return the next year as an official participant.

In 2014, I joined as an artist under the name Doha Painter, presenting my own original character, Supa. My first product was a small coloring book printed at home, but it received a wonderful response that motivated me to grow every year adding new art styles and products.

Geekdom became more than just an event; it became the foundation of my artistic journey ,a place that turned my passion into a business. In 2023, I rebranded to SUPA, and by 2025 it became a registered trademark. Today, with over 35 unique products, I continue to create and share Supa's world with those who've supported me from the very beginning.

DAVID ANGELO ROMAN

Known as a comic book artist credited for his official Rick and Morty comics and related artwork (e.g. trading cards). His style captures the quirky energy of the franchise and has earned him recognition among fandom art circles.

MEHDI AOUICHOUI

A 2D animator whose work centers on character design, storytelling, and traditional animation techniques. His projects showcase expressive motion, deliberate staging, and a polished visual aesthetic that is highly appreciated in the animation community.

GAME DEVELOPERS SPOTLIGHT

MOHAMMED AL KUWARI

Solo game developer who has loved video games since childhood. After studying electrical engineering, a field rich with programming. I decided to combine my skills with my passion. I taught myself game development through online courses, slowly building projects on my own. One of them, RPG Survivor, is a showcase of what I've learned so far. My goal is to keep creating experiences that bring people together just like games did for me.

FADI SOUFI

Founder and Managing Director of COREGAME Studios LLC. My journey from software engineering into game development has been fueled by passion, leading us to our flagship title: the story-driven, pixel-art SHMUP Beyond Solar for PC (Steam). Being part of the Geekdom community is an honor; it allows me to actively participate in the growth of the digital creative economy and has been crucial in shedding light on Beyond Solar, helping us showcase the game and connect with a wider audience. I'm excited to share my story!

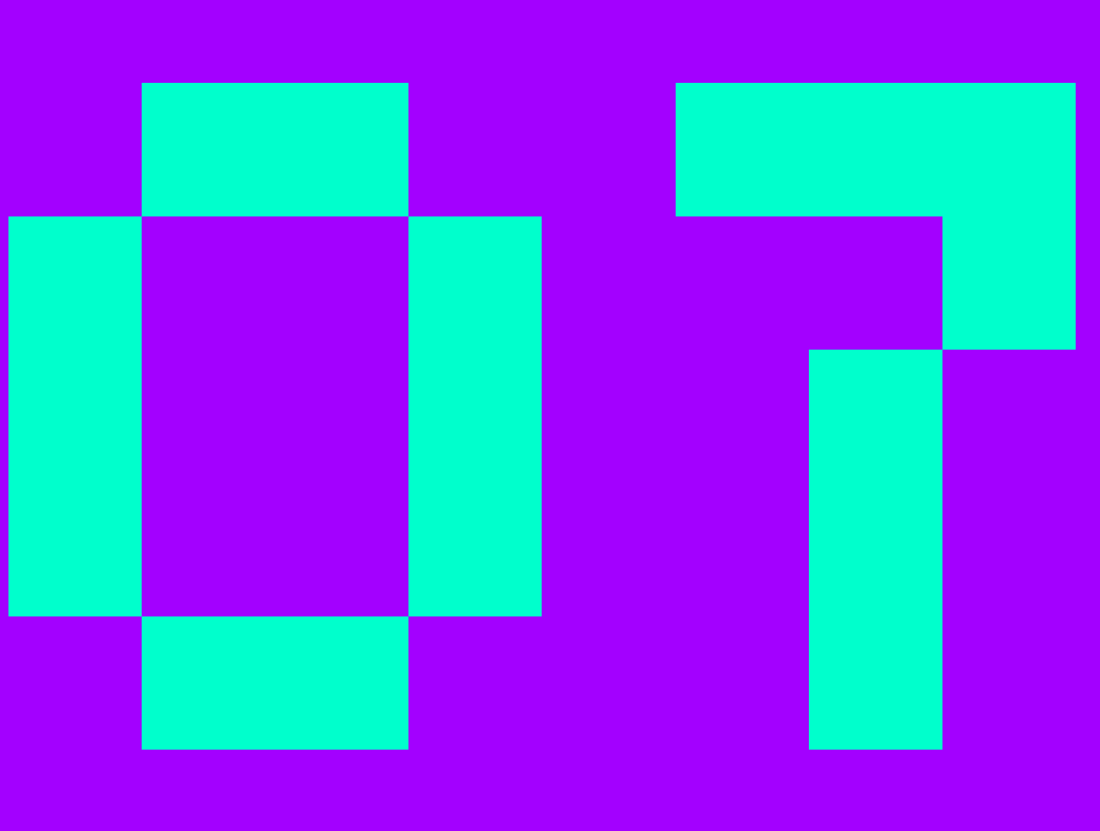

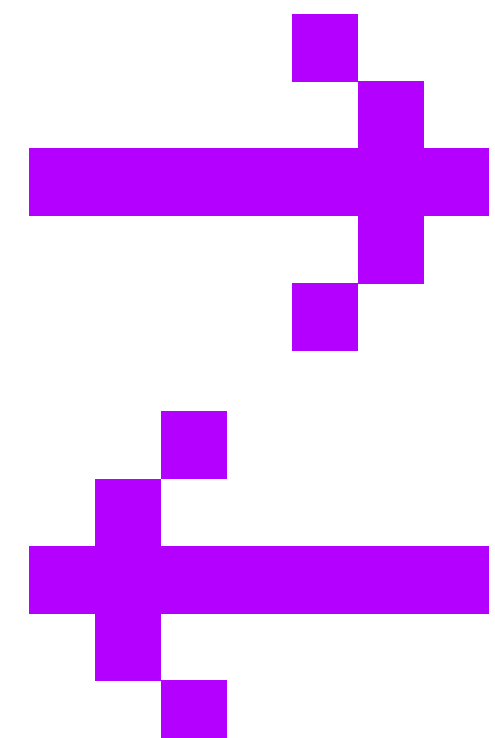

AHMAD AL AMRI

Every year since 2013, I've made my way to the Geekdom event and wow, what a journey it's been. First year, Katara's Ajyal event where I participated as Vergil from DMC3 cosplayer, it was unforgettable evening seeing the joy of the visitors. And once Geekdom was made, there is always, something new pulls me in: the karaoke, artworks, geeky gadgets, handmades, food, inventions, and unforgettable friendships. I've tried my chance to engage with the game developer community, and found strangers who became lifelong friends. Now, with 2025's let's see what kind of surprises are waiting for us within Geekdom building.

EXIT CODE 71 (ESCAPE ROOM)

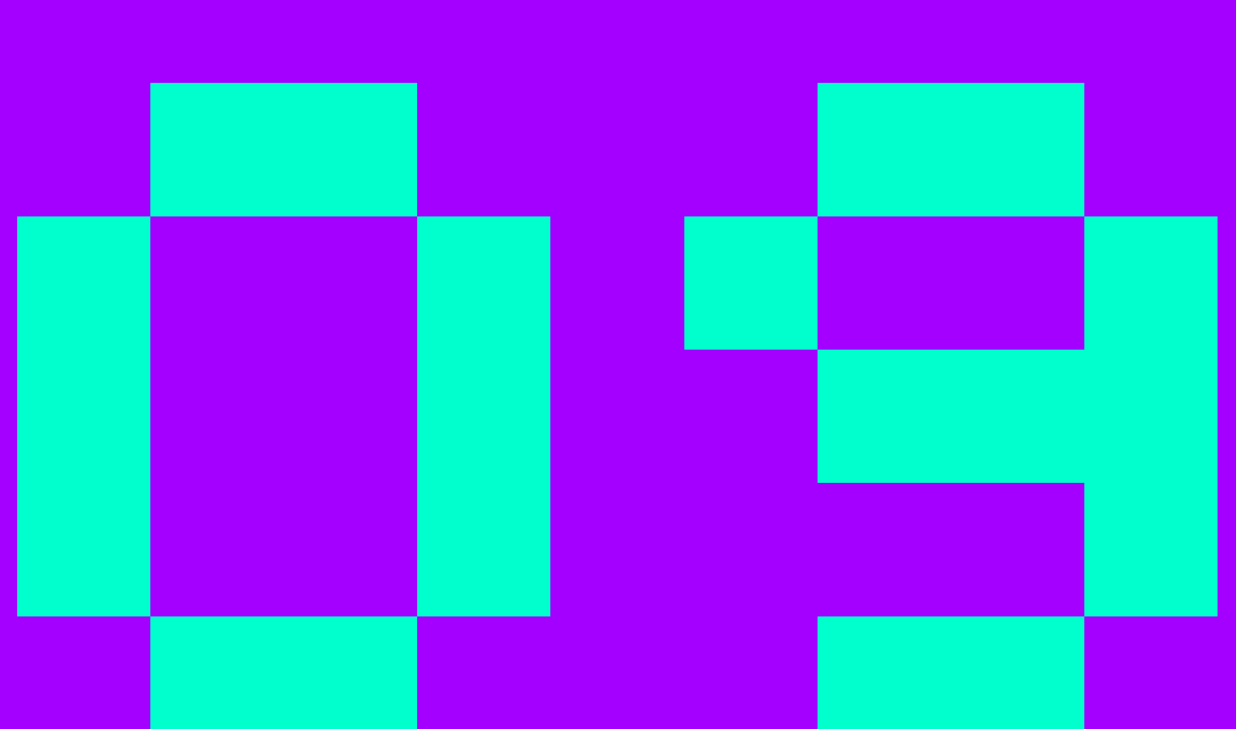

Buried deep in the mountains lies a prison that doesn't exist on any map. No records, no charges, no trial, you and your friends were simply taken. The guards are ruthless, the warden remains unseen, and whispers echo about Cell 71, the cell of a prisoner who almost escaped years ago before vanishing without a trace. Then you notice something carved into the wall, evidence that Inmate 71 left behind a plan. But time is against you. The guards have just switched shifts. In one hour, lockdown begins, and if you don't escape before then, you may never leave.

GEEKDOM MEMORIES

DANNA ALMEER

I've always been a storyteller at heart, guided by sound and emotion. My journey began in 2016 through the DFI Film Lab, later joining Made in Qatar, where I met the Geekdom team. Their karaoke room became my secret stage - a quiet escape that reconnected me with my true voice. In 2019, I shared the idea of AjyalTunes, born from that same passion for music and storytelling - a dream of creating a space where creativity could grow freely. It took patience and belief that art can change how people feel and connect. Three years later, I stood before the world as the Qatari singer who opened the FIFA World Cup 2022, representing a nation that believes in art and progress. That same year, Music Lab was established, supported by H.E. Sheikha Al Mayassa bint Hamad AlThani - a home for every dreamer who dares to express themselves.

SINIA HOSSSEINIPOUR

My story with Geekdom began in 2022, when I joined the FIFA tournament without knowing much about the event. After being knocked out early, I wandered into the board game section and was instantly hooked. Following their Instagram, I joined the Treasure Hunt, winning three days in a row. Soon people, attendees and staff, were curious about “the guy who kept winning.” I introduced myself as an escape room designer and joked that unless they let me design the hunts, I’d never stop. That moment sparked the idea for a full escape room, and the rest is history. Today, I’m proud to be Geekdom’s Program Coordinator, creating the same sense of fun and discovery that first drew me in.

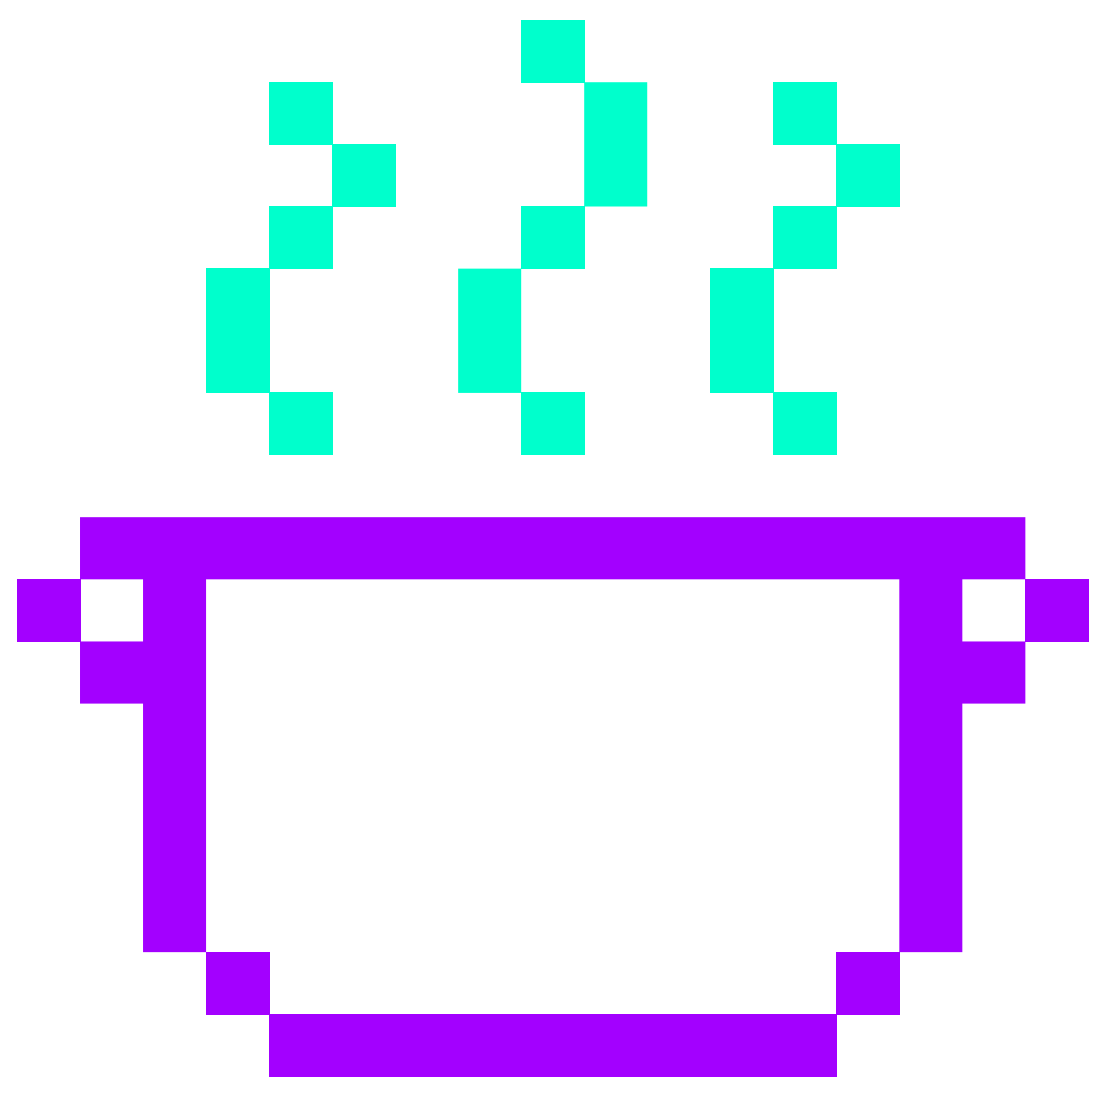

ALI AL AMSARI

I first got introduced to Geekdom through Ajyal Film Festival. In 2014, I won Best Director in the Made in Qatar category, and a year later Shorooq Shaheen, the manager of Geekdom, invited me to join as a collector. In 2015, I participated with friends, showcasing a mix of Star Wars statues, video games, and vintage Japanese anime. It was nostalgic and fun, and I met fellow collectors who became close friends. Since then, I've been part of almost every edition, showcasing with my wife, curating the gallery, and eventually helping run Geekdom and shape its vision in 2022.
